

Home

Classifieds

- Autos/Boats/RVs
- Garage Sales
- Jobs
- Merchandise
- Real Estate
- Tours

Departments

- News
- Business
- Sports
- For the Record
- Obituaries
- Commentary
- Features
- Lifestyle
- Calendars
- Go!
- Ovation
- Entertainment
- Photography
- Columnists

Special Sections

- Our Town
- Special Ad Sections
- Special Sports Sections

Search Archive

Subscribe

Staff Directory

Tribune Jobs

Tribune in Education

Display Advertising

Commercial Printing

Care corps

Published Monday, March 21, 2005

G.J. McCarthy photos

Jake Heyen helps prepare cases of Girl Scout cookies for shipment to Marines in Iraq yesterday in a warehouse at the Boone County Fire District headquarters. Volunteers for MarineParents.com Inc. prepared the cases for shipment tomorrow. The Girl Scouts of Housatonic Council Inc. of Bridgeport, Conn., donated some 3,600 boxes of cookies. Below, sign-waving marchers make their way south on Ninth Street after a peace rally yesterday at Courthouse Square in downtown Columbia. Participants from around the region also gathered at the square to hear music and speeches. They were encouraged to bring along extra pairs of shoes, which were used for a visual representation of lives lost in Iraq. The event was sponsored by the Columbia Peace Coalition.

In Features

- Forever home
- Slide Show

Slide Show

- Honoring an officer

In Features

In Features

- Swept away
- Slide Show

In Features

- The Burke Factor

• Mid-Missouri's
Community Guide

Copyright © 2005 The Columbia Daily Tribune. All Rights Reserved.

COLUMBIA DAILY
TRIBUNE